

WORLD SUMMIT ON MEDIA FOR CHILDREN FOUNDATION

TENDER INFORMATION FOR THE NEXT WORLD SUMMIT ON MEDIA FOR CHILDREN

THE WORLD SUMMIT ON MEDIA FOR CHILDREN FOUNDATION is responsible for overseeing the process by which specific countries and organisations are given the right to hold successive World Summits on Media for Children. The Foundation owns the intellectual property of the World Summit on Media for Children concept. The Foundation is not a source of funding and any World Summit has to be self-financing. The Foundation has determined that there will be a formal tendering process for the next World Summit. A country and organisation must submit to the Foundation a formal proposal to hold the next World Summit on Media for Children.

BACKGROUND

The Objectives of the World Summit on Media for Children Foundation

The World Summit on Media for Children Foundation is an independent body which uses its expertise, networks and influence to

- Achieve a greater understanding of developments in children's media around the world
- Promote innovation in the development, design and provision of media for children
- Reinforce the constructive role of media in the development, education and wellbeing of children
- Draw the attention of key players in digital media to the importance of issues relating to children's lives
- Promote a charter of guiding principles in children's digital media
- Ensure the provision of high-quality digital resources for children will be guaranteed as the communications revolution proceeds
- Assist in providing future opportunities for high-quality media for children around the world

The History of the World Summit on Media for Children process

The World Summit movement was conceived by Dr Patricia Edgar and presented to a Round Table meeting hosted by PRIX JEUNESSE in May 1993. It was recognised that television programming for children was changing and under threat in a variety of ways, and could no longer remain a domestic issue if it was to survive with the values and objectives to which professionals in the industry aspire.

The first World Summit on Television and Children was held in Melbourne, Australia, from 12-17 March 1995 hosted by the Australian Children's Television Foundation. Both officially and informally, the Summit provided an intense, exciting and fertile environment for the exchange of ideas and information and it acted as a catalyst for meetings and actions around the world.

Subsequently, the 2nd World Summit on Television for Children was held in London, England, in 1998, the 3rd World Summit on Media for Children was held in Thessaloniki, Greece, in 2001, and the 4th World Summit held in Rio de Janeiro in 2004.

A variety of other regional summits and forums, inspired by the World Summits, have also been held since 1995 and form part of the World Summit movement.

At a Summit in Johannesburg South Africa in March 2007 the Foundation Board conferred on Sweden the right to hold the next World Summit on Media for Children in Karlstad during 2010.

The 7th Summit in 2014 is to be held in Kuala Lumpur Malaysia hosted by the Asian Broadcasting Union (ABU) and RTM Malaysia from September 8th-10th.

Formation and Role of Summit Holding Company

In 1999, a company was established to foster the World Summit movement. The World Summit On Media For Children Foundation is a not-for-profit public company incorporated in Victoria, Australia. Its Australian Company Number is 088 281 654. Its Board of Directors comprise representatives of the principal host organisations of previous and future World Summits and regional summits. The Foundation's objects are to encourage and promote the World Summit, select host organisations for future World Summits and assist those organisations to prepare for the World Summit.
